SATURDAY, JANUARY 29, 1859

Agricultural Meeting.

All persons who are interested in the improvement of our Agricultural interests of North Eastern Indiana, are requested to meet at KEN-DALLVILLE, Noble County, on Saturday, the 5th day of February next, for the purpose of organizing and making the necessary arrangements for a Union Agricultural Fair, embracing the North Eastern counties of Indiana.

A correspondent under the signature of S—, wishes us to say something about country lads coming to town and getting drunk? If they do, it is certainly very wrong; but we are not sufficiently posted in the matter to say anything about it. Perhaps, if S— is acquainted with the facts, it would be better for him to speak of it in such terms as he thinks it deserves.

Another Congressional Rumpus.—By the Washington news in another column it will be seen that Dr. Fitch, Senator from Indiana, and Judge Douglas, of Illinois, have had a sharp one which might have led to a duel—but didn't. These squires are getting to be common in attracting much attention, and generally result in shedding much blood.

LEGISLATIVE.—We have laboriously waded through the reports of the doings of our Legislature, but have not discovered anything in them worth copying. An abundance of bills and resolutions on almost every imaginable subject have been introduced, and are in different stages of forwardness, but only two or three have as yet been passed. A bill for amending the Constitution so as to require of foreigners five years' residence before voting, was laid on the table in the House—yesterday.

Mr. Steffens introduced a string of preambles and resolutions in the Senate, setting forth our grievances against Spain and Cuba, and the necessity of our possessing the latter; instructing our Senators and Representatives in Congress to vote for the passage of some law giving the President full power to call out the entire strength of the country to compel satisfaction from Spain; and recommending the seizure of Cuba. We look upon such things as out of place in the Legislature, and think our members of Congress better able to judge what course they ought to take than the Legislature is to instruct them. If they need instruction it would be better to emanate directly from the people. The same remarks may also apply to resolutions in favor of the admission of Kansas whenever her citizens may apply, without regard to the reaction in the English bill in population—introduced in the Senate by Mr. Wallace, and in the House by Mr. Shields. Our Legislature had better confine itself to state affairs and leave national questions to those whose duty it is to attend to them.

A most absurd bill has been introduced in the Senate by Mr. Wallace, prescribing, or rather inventing a new mode of electing U. S. Senators. It provides that the people, at the general election in the time when the Legislature has a United States Senator to elect, shall designate at the ballot box the person whom they wish chosen to fill the prospective vacancy in the Senate, and that the will, I do say, so expressed at the ballot box, shall be binding on all members of the Legislature in their votes for United States Senators.

The Constitution of the United States expressly provides that the Senators shall be elected by the State Legislatures, while this bill provides that the election shall in reality be by the people; although the Legislature is to pretend to elect, but is to have no choice in the matter, being compelled to vote for such candidates as receive the popular majority. We look upon this as one of the most ridiculous and impracticable measures ever submitted to a Legislature, and the only wonder is that it received any attention from the Senate. It ought to have been laid on the table immediately on its first introduction, instant of which it has been allowed to be read twice, referred to a committee, and reported upon. We cannot believe such a volume will ever be adopted, and look upon all that has been done regarding it, as more but fine, that could have been much better occupied.

The Republican complains that nothing has been done by the state administration towards collecting the $10,000 due the State by Col. Allen May. The same grounds have been taken by certain republican members in the Legislature. The fact of the matter is, Col. May is not indebted to the state, Mr. Nusinger, the treasurer of state, loaned the money to May, which was not repaid, and Nusinger is a defaulter to the state in that amount. It is a private transaction between the two, in which the state has nothing to do. The profits, if any had accrued, would have been Nusinger's, and he must bear the loss. The duty of the state officers is to make Nusinger refund the amount he took from the state treasury, and let him collect from May if he can. An effort is making by republicans to have the state assume the liability, and look to May for the payment, so as to screen Nusinger. It is a cunning scheme to relieve him from the defalcation, and make the state bear the loss. The state officers properly decline doing this, and their course is deserving the approbation of the public. If public officers will speculate on the state funds, and pocket the profits arising from such transactions, they ought certainly to bear the losses, and not seek to make the state responsible. This attempt to saddle the loss of Nusinger's speculation on the state is a fair sample of republican economy and financial management.

Canal Meeting.

A meeting of our citizens was held at the Court-House on Wednesday night last, for the purpose of appointing delegates to attend a Convention proposed to be held at Indianapolis on the 2d February next, to devise means for having the Wabash & Erie Canal kept open. Gen. S. Edgall was called to the Chair, and H. J. Radcliff appointed Secretary. A somewhat lengthy debate was had, in which J. L. Williams, H. Baker, W. W. Carson, H. L. Combs, Judge Hanna, P. P. Bailey, M. Jenkins, and W. S. Edgall participated. The feeling manifested was decidedly in favor of having the canal kept up, and such legislative action as would authorize the Trustees to limit the expediting of their means to such portions of the canal as would be likely to repay the cost of keeping up, or, if thought advisable, to lease it to navigable order; but at the same time any thing looking to the slighted degree toward the State's inking back the canal or releasing the debt entailed by its transfer, was to be strictly guarded against.

The following resolution, offered by H. Baker, and moved on motion of Judge Hanna, was adopted:—

Resolved, That our Senator and Representatives in the Legislature of the State, he and they are hereby requested to use their efforts to procure such necessary legislation at the present session of the legislature, as will insure the opening of the canal in the ensuing spring and keeping it in repair in the future.

On motion of P. P. Bailey, Resolved, That the citizens of Indiana be invited to cooperate with us in any measure that will tend to maintain the Wabash & Erie Canal in navigable order.

The following persons were appointed a committee to go to Indianapolis:—

The Burns Festival.

The celebration of the centenary anniversary of Burns' birthday, at the Rock Hill House, on Tuesday evening, was a most agreeable and well managed affair. Between 300 and 400 persons participated. All the "hail" tods and bonnie lasses² from the land o' cakes, residing in our city and vicinity, were present, together with a large assemblage of the very elite of the city. An excellent supper was prepared by the accomplished hostler, in his own matchless style, and it may be enough on this head to say that it was worthy the occasion, and was done ample justice to.

After the supper, the assemblage was called together by the President, Mr. John C. Chrane, and the following programme was had:—

Song by the Harmonic Society.

Toast.—The Memory of Burns. Responded to in a most beautiful address on the personal characteristics of the bard's poetry, by Mr. Jay Scott; and a speech by Mr. Jas. Humphrey.

Music by the band.

The Poets of Scotland. Responded to in an appropriate Scottish poem by I. Jenkins.

Song by the Harmonic Society.

The Memory of the Figures of the Declaration of Independence. Responded to by Rev. M. L. Loring.

Song—Tulligareem, by W. Latham.

The Poet, Speech by J. W. Dawson.

Song—The Wild Maumoo—by the Harmonics.

The Memory of Washington—Speech by P. Bailey.

Music—The Star Spangled Banner, by Band.

The Land o' Cakes—Speech and Song by the Chairman.

Song by the Harmonic Society.

A Humorous Scotch Poem by J. Humphrey.

Speeches and Sentiments were given by Judge Hanna, W. S. Smith, Dr. Knapp, Oakley, Sulley, Woodruff, and others.

The company now began to divide off into different rooms, and the "fun grew fast and furious." The younger portion enjoyed themselves in dancing; several Scottish and other songs were sung in fine style; and many of Burns' poems were admirably recited. Time flew unheeded by, all enjoying themselves to the utmost; and it was not until eight o'clock that the company finally dispersed.

This was, beyond all comparison, the best and most agreeable social gathering ever held in our city. All were satisfied and delighted, and a most exciting and delightful evening was had by all.

The Harmonic Society added much to the enjoyment, by their excellent singing, and Orff's band also contributed their share to the general harmony. But the grand feature was the volunteer singing by a few of the Scottish lads and lasses. This, unfortunately, was not held an hour that many had retired, and so missed the rich treat.

We hold this festival annually, and that arrangement will be made to have Scotch music form a more prominent feature in the entertainments.

Burgary—On Tuesday night last, Radcliff's Woolen Factory in this city was forcibly broken into, and several pieces of cloth, to the value of $10, or $20, stolen. Entrance was effected through a window in the finishing room. A person who was soon loitering round the premises that evening was strongly suspected of being the thief.

News from the Gold Regions.

No one would be more grieved than myself, to know that the gold strikes constantly arriving from our Western frontier were realities. It would be a great benefit to Kansas, as well as to other portions of the Union. But Kansas cannot be made prosperous without hindering people, she had better go slow, and hide her time. We cannot help thinking that Pike's Peak and Cherry Creek are bounties notwithstanding nearly every paper we pick up, is filled with glowing accounts from there. We are acquainted with a number of persons who have gone there, and they invariably send back reports. Another thing looks suspicious. The following accounts all appear in papers published in towns which aspire to be mining points for the gold regions.

We conversed with a gentleman, only a few days since, who had stopped at Cherry Creek on his way from California overland. He had a number of gold, and he said that gold was to be had in the amount of $1000 a day.

He was told that the Bank of the management of the Bank, and a decided preference, at all times, given to its notes over those issued by banks in other States.

In this connection we may be permitted to add, that we regard to the movement in the Legislature, now in session, regarding the charter of the Bank of the State of Indiana, as very important and highly unusual. No gold, in our opinion, can possibly result in any action by the Legislature pointing to such a result.
